YANKEE STADIUM
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Brooklyn's beloved Dodgers came roaring back behind great pitching by big Whitlow Wyatt to defeat the Yankees 3-2 today before 66,248 cheering fans and knot the world series at one victory apiece.

After being pounded for four solid hits and two runs in the first three innings, Wyatt settled down to blank the Yankees the remainder of the route, while his mates were pounding Spud Chandler from the mound in the sixth frame, when they scored the winning run.

Dolf Camilli, Dodger first base man who could do nothing but strike out in the opening contest, knocked in the winner today with a clean single into right field.

The Dodgers made only six hits off Chandler and his successor while the Yanks got nine off Wyatt and threatened regularly, but the Flatbushers put theirs together in the fifth and sixth rounds.

As a result of today's well-earned victory, the National Leaguers go into the third game tomorrow on even terms with the Yanks, and with the added advantage of playing in their own Ebbets field.

Japan Loves With Surprising Caution In Indo-China

Tokyo Seen Reluctant
Risk Early Clash With Britain, United States

By LELAND STOWE

RANGOON, Oct. 2.—(CPI)—Far from being ready or able to push her initial tactical advantages, Japan is moving with surprising caution in Indo-China and by so doing she betrays both the seriousness of her economic and financial difficulties and her reluctance to risk an early clash with Britain and the United States in the Far East.

There are inescapable contradictions after two weeks' observations while travelling back and forth across Cambodia and Cochinchina—here the bulk of the Japanese forces are now stationed. The rapid Japanese-dominated campaign in which the French authorities are obliged to accept Japanese terms is a clear indication of the Japanese position.

EXCLUSIVE

While any mention of Tokyo's Indo-China gains in the past few days, the Chinese are still in a position to make possible any leaving Indo-China.

The most important fact to be cited, however, completely being recent reports of huge Japanese troop movements into the rich French colony which is a third less than previous estimate.

LESS THAN QUOTA

Six weeks after Japan first began sending troops in southern Indo-China the still has, according to most reliable estimates by observers on the spot, less than 40,000 men, or considerably less than the 100,000 accepted quota, stationed throughout the colony.

The Japanese are busy building barracks at the airport outside Saigon at Phnom-Penh, capital of Cambodia, and elsewhere in the south. Obviously they are digging in for a long stay and some reports insist that if less than two divisions are on hand now eight more are scheduled to be sent to during the autumn. Nevertheless, the Japanese are merely in the first stage of their establishment in Indo-China and are making haste with what may be significant slow down.

At present the Japanese are believed to have about 150 airplanes scattered in eight Indo-China airports, or certainly a maximum of 200. Perhaps 50 of these are at Saigon, where planes keep coming in over the suburbs daily, apparently to impress the French inhabitants and natives.

But many Indo-Chinese airfields are either too small for heavy bombers or, like Siemreap, too close to Angkor, near the Thai border, they will be entirely unusable until late in November due to the rainy season's inundations. Consequently, the Japanese will be unable to put any large air force into an operating offensive status in Indo-China for another three months at least.

PRUDENT PROCEDURE

This fails to explain, however, why the Japanese have not mustered large aviation units at the first Indo-Chinese airports. At Tokyo really plans to utilize southern Indo-China as an armed base, equally against Thailand, Singapore and the Dutch Indies. As with Nippon's army of occupation in France, it appears that Tokyo had adopted a prudent if thorough procedure.

What is most impressive about the Japanese military throughout Cambodia and Cochinchina is the quality of their equipment. They have artillery and tanks out in sight as yet but have brought in literally thousands of army trucks and of their brand new American-made tanks. Thanks to the excellent French-built main highways from here swiftly been transported to strategic southern centers. About 10,000 new being in the neighborhood of Phnom-Penh and another 2,000 in Siemreap.

Nevertheless, no Japanese soldiers were within 10 miles of the frontier control posts where French troops are stationed. It is reported that thus far the Japanese also have left the frontier stations in the hands of the French although that condition is not expected to last indefinitely.

FRENCH RELUCTANT

In numerous key cities in southern Indo-China the Japanese military occupies many public buildings and is requisitioning hundreds of the private homes of the French who yield them with the greatest reluctance, especially as requisitioning is frequently resorted to in advance. Much French resentment has been expressed in Phnom-Penh because virtually every public school has been taken as a barracks for Japanese troops, while the children of French and native laotians are being compelled to resume classes in dilapidated native schools. The French colonial population are fine, modern structures, but their entrances are now guarded by armed, tough-minded Japanese soldiers.

Japanese officers reveal a week-end for the most handsome villas in the residential section, the French corner locations. Unlabeled French occupants are outright ordered to leave. It is often difficult for them to retain occupancy over the claims which the Japanese command force will be French government-owned ship. If the Japanese occupational forces should be quadrupled, an acute housing shortage would probably hit the French residents, but for the Japanese are being careful to demand only about as much as the traffic will stand.

Today's War Moves

ORGANIZING CAMPAIGN

Now Britain and Russia are organizing the campaign on broader, co-ordinated lines, which is the purpose of the visit to Moscow of Sir Walter Monckton, director of the British ministry of information. Radio, the airplane and, to a limited extent, under-cover agents will be the chief weapons. During the "occupied" period, propaganda leaflets will be dropped in increasing quantities over military reverses, and the hope of freedom through an allied effort will be kept alive.

The people will be exhorted to hamper the Nazi authorities in their efforts to suppress the sabotage and the slowing down of production, but will be warned to keep their heads down and not start premature uprisings, which at this stage the Nazis can easily suppress with wholesale slaughter.

For purposes of propaganda, Italy will be classed by the Allies as an occupied country. Britain will concentrate on Italy, which is considered a fertile field. Considerable dissatisfaction already reported there over military reverses, and the lack of concrete gains in the war, and the overbearing of the Germans. The new and drastic food restrictions in Italy should prove a handy weapon for the British.

BOMBINGS ADJUST POINT

The latter will point out, no doubt, that Britain is eating better than earlier in the war, and that rations of meat, cheese, fat and sugar, instead of being lightened, have been increased. Italy will be told that they are no better off than the conquered peoples.

The propaganda, according to the British program, will be pointed by frequent bombings to keep Italian nerves on edge. Inasmuch as bombers can be spared from the incessant war on Germany on the western front, they will be used in sufficient numbers so that there will be no long periods of respite between bombings as was the case in the past.

Russia will concentrate her propaganda fire in eastern Europe where the revolt has been the most pronounced, especially among the Slavs. The Russian appeal has been and will be directed to "our oppressed Slav brothers" who will be urged to rise against Hitlerism and that the Slavs may again be free and independent. The Russians likewise will appeal to left wing workers all over the continent.

The leaflet campaign is supplemented to the radio and is designed for one thing, to reach those who for one reason or another are not so eager to listen to the broadcasts.

"GANG UP" ON RADIO

The cooperation between England and Russia in this matter is illustrated by the way they "gang up" every night on the principal German broadcast, that of Dr. Hans Fruehling, multipurpose for Gneiss. During his talks, "Ivan The Terrible" breaks in from Moscow with wise cracks and raucous laughter. At the end, a skilled British speaker goes on the air in German and refutes his arguments.

The campaign also may be directed at all of the remaining neutrals in Europe, notably Sweden and Turkey. The whole thing got its impetus from Germany's military difficulties in Russia. The legend of German invincibility was seriously shaken, both in occupied and neutral countries. The Allied aim is to see that the neutrals at least stay strictly that way, and also to keep them in the frame of mind to resist if attacked.

Another important factor in the propaganda machine is the exiles governments in London of the occupied nations. They are co-operating wholeheartedly with the British in the effort to stir the spirit of revolt in their countries.

The German occupation proved disastrous, but has been more aggressive here and there in the past two weeks. Officers appear to have originally ordered their troops to maintain discipline in all contacts with the public and tactfulness has generally prevailed.

The Japanese soldiers are now becoming more repressive and more inhuman. They are now in the forefront of the Japanese police reported four separate cases in which Japanese soldiers had got into rows with French civilians, one of which ended with two Frenchmen and two natives being killed by them. The military feeling excited that incident of this sort were rare in the Japanese army, but at least Japanese officials appear to be taking the least possible interest in the matter.

Wavell Meets Red Army Leader

General Sir Archibald Wavell, British commander-in-chief in India, left, enjoys a chat with Colonel Popov of the Soviet Military Mission. The two met recently in Baghdad to study problems of further collaboration between their respective armies. An interpreter stands by at the right.

Gen. Wavell conferred with two British officers who flew to Tehran, Iran, from Tiflis, Russia, where a British mission is studying problems of defense of the Caucasus with the Red army.

Interpreting War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

DESPITE a grave Russian disaster in the battle of Kiev, there are signs that Moscow and London are feeling more optimistic about the whole east front from Leningrad to the head of the Crimean isthmus.

There seems no doubt that Leningrad's defenses, like those of Odessa, are still banking Nazi siege operations. It is even possible that they have cracked the German steel sufficiently for a supply route from Moscow to Leningrad to be reopened at least temporarily.

And nowhere else southward for 1,000 miles or there is any indication of German progress since the fall of Kiev nearly two weeks ago and subsequent mop-up of the Kiev pocket. Moscow now admits loss of Poltava, which Germany claimed several days ago, but still maintains the Russian defense line stabilized along the east bank of the Dnieper river on that sector of the new Kharkov defense front. Poltava lies on the west bank of that stream, which is a major tributary of the Dnieper.

The Nazi thrust northward toward Kharkov from Kremenchuk (below Kiev) was the most serious one yet launched against the Donets basin. However, the Voroshilov forces have a reputation for strong front which stand.

Perhaps the most encouraging sign for Britain, however, is the London report that the Nazi drive to seize the Crimean peninsula made small progress along the Perkop isthmus, the only land approach to the Crimea. The thrust has travelled only seven miles south of the town of Perkop, Leningrad said.

It took a true day after days of fierce fighting, German attempts to invade the peninsula have bogged down.

It is probable that Royal Air Force planes operating jointly with the Russians are assigned to aid in the Crimean defense.

The peninsula is one possible key to Nazi invasion of the Caucasus to reach the Baku oil fields. The first skirmishes between German and Anglo-Russian forces for control of those vitally essential oil fields probably is already being fought on the Perkop isthmus.

Calgary Hotel Is Damaged By Fire

CALGARY, Oct. 2.—(CPI)—Staying in a furnace room in the basement, a fire gutted the annex of the Wales hotel here Wednesday night.

Heavy smoke drove 150 guests from their rooms and hampered the work of fire fighters. McDonald started about 10:30 p.m. and was not brought under control until after 1 a.m. Extent of the damage has not been known.

Several of the guests were overcome by smoke, but none required hospital treatment.

The newly announced feed freight policy will pay a third of the freight costs from the head of the lakes into eastern Canada on grain

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(CPI)—A meeting of the Conservative party today approved unanimously a vote of confidence in the Churchill government based on the Prime Minister's decision "to welcome the Russian nation as an ally in the struggle against aggressive barbarism and to foster their resistance by every possible means."

We should realize," he asserted, "that the Russians are fighting in a most heroic manner for their country, for the defence of holy Russia, and not in defence of Marxism."

We should be very foolish if we did not realize that at present our interests and those of Russia are identical."

Nazis Lose Heavily

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—(AP)—German air squadrons, including the noted Condor Legion, have lost more than 100 planes during attacks on the Soviet Union since the bombing of Moscow, Col. A. Ilyin said in an article published Tuesday by Pravda, Communist party organ.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Suggestions the United States congress may be willing to go beyond President Roosevelt's expected recommendations for revision of the neutrality act came today from two senators who often differ widely on domestic policy—Lester Hill (Dem., Alabama) and Styles Bridges (Rep., New Hampshire).

While no legislator professed to know precisely what Mr. Roosevelt would recommend, there have been reports he might submit himself to a request for authority to arm American merchant ships.

Chairman Tom Connally (Dem., Maine) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee and others have urged, however, the simultaneous termination of present restrictions against sending American munitions to belligerent ports or presidentially declaring "combat zones."

Hill, Democratic whip, told reporters that "if it should be that the House of Representatives should not be at all surprised if a broadening amendment were offered from the Senate floor to eliminate the prohibitions on the movement of our ships. And I think the MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—(CPI)—Rev. Canon W. A. Ferguson, former principal of Emmanuel College, Saskatoon, was welcomed Wednesday at the new principal of the Diocesan College of Montreal by members of the college alumni.

It was thought that Ferguson would be there to approve it both in the Senate and the House.

Bridges likewise thought the Senate would endorse the legislation to include the end of shipping restrictions, he expressed doubt, however, that the House would agree to accepting the ship provisions. Even if the Senate passed a bill, he said, the House would claim enough votes for complete repeal of the whole law.

CANADIAN NICKEL IN 'ALL-OUT' WAR EFFORT

THIS VAST, 12-ACRE AMPHITHEATRE in the International Nickel Company's Canadian refinery is doing its part in speeding Empire production. In its row on row of concrete tanks filled with bright green liquid, the final operation in purifying the Nickel from Canadian mines is performed.

Down each long aisle glides a great bridge-crane. One after another, the 40-pound anvils of partially refined Nickel are lowered into the tanks. Steadily, silently, unceasingly, electricity performs its magic. A few weeks later, cathodes of pure Nickel are lifted from the tanks and rushed to the mills, foundries and factories.

For twenty-four hours each day, three shifts of Canadian workmen, united in loyal service to the Empire, keep this plant at its peak of production. The mighty crushers and ball mills grind onward without ceasing. The inferno of the furnaces known to most as the Nickel plant, the peace-time machinery tough, strong, hard, rust-proof, is needed more than ever to forge better and better war machines for our fighting forces.

Ontario Cited 'Chest' Campaign As Market For Alberta Coal

Coal problems and fuel policy were the topics discussed by members of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy during the Wednesday afternoon session of the three-day convention at the Macdonald hotel.

Howard Stubbins, public relations man for Ashland oils, presented to the meeting Alberta's coal problem, pointing out how Ontario is a possible market for her coal.

The chief reason why Ontario today is not buying as much coal from Alberta as she would like is that there has been lack of uniformity in advertising the product, with the result that Ontario coal dealers are confused, Mr. Stubbins said.

He cited different prices for egg coal being sold as an example of that confusion.

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY

He concluded by stating that owing to increased demands for United States coal for the war machine and transportation, Alberta has an excellent opportunity to extend her market to Ontario. He warned, however, that every care to establish that market should be taken by shipping only the finest coal, prepared and sized to suit Ontario standards.

Coal executives, officials of the railway fuel departments and officials connected with the federal government took part in a discussion, centering around the fuel policy and coal problems, at the last session of the afternoon. J. Stevens was chairman of this discussion.

During the noon hour the delegates sat at a luncheon sponsored by the provincial government. Premier Aherhart was chairman of the program following lunch.

NEED OF OUTLET

Hon. E. C. Manning, minister of trade and industry, was speaker at the luncheon. He stressed to the engineers the fact that the field of industry represented by them was vitally important to human welfare. They represent a field of industry that is the master key in the great production machine, he said.

Mr. Manning stressed the need for providing an outlet for Alberta's surplus coal, and used that situation as an example of the present "tragedy" of one section of society having to be faced with privation due to shortage of purchasing power, in the midst of plenty.

He congratulated the mining men on the rapid advance that industry and production has made and regretted that economic principles have not moved as rapidly.

AT HEAD TABLE

Some of the others seated at the head table were Prof. W. G. McCord, Montreal, president of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy; B. L. Thorne, president; C. C. Cook, vice-president; I. W. Jones, Quebec representative; H. W. E. Kerr, Regina, minister of natural resources; D. B. Peeland, Victoria, chief mining engineer for the department of mines in British Columbia; Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines; Messrs. F. M. Melick, F. M. Little, Ottawa; C. L. O'Brien, Ottawa; J. A. Russell and J. P. de Wet, Winnipeg.

In the evening the members enjoyed a dinner under the chairmanship of Chas. E. Garnett.

Auto Licenses Cut Effective

A 40 per cent reduction in the annual Alberta automobile license plate fee went into effect Wednesday. It was announced by officials of the provincial secretary's department. This action is in line with economy procedure.

On Jan. 1 next there will be a cut of 75 per cent of the total annual fee.

It was stated by officials that many new licenses are expected to be taken out in the remaining six months of the current fiscal and license year.

By the end of August there had been more than 82,000 pleasure car licenses taken out, a new peak for the province and with half the year yet to go, a large increase over that figure is expected.

Motor truck licenses were reduced by 40 per cent on Sept. 1 and on Jan. 1 the price will be reduced by 75 per cent.

Separate School Teachers Of City Elect Officers

Edmonton Separate School A.T.A. local held its first monthly meeting of the school year on Monday in the separate school hall when new officers were elected as follows: president, Mrs. M. Thery; secretary, Miss G. Brunson; treasurer, Miss Grace Burt.

After transference of business which included a discussion in regard to contributions to the Community Chest, Mrs. Susan Winfield gave an interesting report of the Ann Arbor Mich. conference of new educational leaders.

Amusements Act Consolidation Is Now Effective

Proclamation of the amended and consolidated amusements act, passed as the last session of the legislature, took place as from Chas. L. H. it was announced Wednesday by provincial government officials.

It was pointed out that the act now proclaimed is a consolidation of the amusements act, the travelling show act and the theatres act. Most of the sections of Workers in the Community Chest campaign began to "put their stride" today when larger contributions began to tally on the record. The Hudson's Bay company announced a contribution of $2,000 from the firm and there will be a substantial amount from executives and employees to be announced later.

Capital City Box Co., Ltd. gave $500 and the employees contributed a further $300.

Among the individual contributions was a cheque from C. S. Burgess for $150 and Shrago's hardware for $50.

It was announced that several large contributions could be expected shortly from department stores and packing houses and their employees.

ORGANIZATIONS BENEFIT

In the business zone caravans many workers have not been able to make their calls, due to end-of-month conditions, but are now stepping into the production column. Ann Boucher's team secured 12 contributions for $170. Fred Mitchell's team secured two for $60. These are indications of the average of the smaller gifts.

It was pointed out today that the campaign now being conducted provides for services for the organizations for 1942. Practically all of the groups have had a campaign this year raising their own funds for 1941.

This does not mean that these organizations are having two campaigns in one year. The amount raised now is for 1942. These 28 organizations, the total may not be subject for funds next year.

Letters received from Ottawa indicate that the department of war services advises that every community should hold its community appeal for 1942 at this time so that no appeals for local charities should be made nor will be authorized until the fall of 1942 when the chest appeal returns.

COMPANY PLANS

A number of firms indicate that they will adopt a company plan for all charitable contributions beginning January first (some of them are starting now). This provides for new deduction from payroll of a fixed percentage, usually 1.5%, which is placed in a trust fund under control of an employee group. From this fund disbursements will be made to the two major campaigns, Community Chest and the War Services, including Red Cross and a small balance for emergencies.

The plan has been adopted by some firms for some time, but others are lining up staffs on this basis now to avoid any further calls on staff at any time.

The plan is highly recommended to all staff organizations. Chest Campaign Chairman Hanson urged all team captains and workers to get on the job and complete their calls and to report results immediately to the chest office. Many workers are carrying returns which would help the executive to make totals for the section or team in which workers are concerned.

City Land Sales Increase $37,521

City land sales for the nine months of 1941 ending Sept. 30 reached $212,541 compared with $174,920 last year, an increase of $37,521. John Patterson, city land department superintendent, reported to the city commissioners.

City rentals show a decrease of $2,306 for the period, declining from $122,676 to $120,370. Reason for the decline Mr. Patterson stated was the return to the tax roll through purchase or redemption of numerous buildings taken over by the city for sale.

Land sales for September amounted to $17,826 compared with $22,551 last year, and rentals for September this year were $13,220 against $12,752 last year.

Many Methods Of Mining Are Shown

Technical aspects of mining brought out with the aid of slides and other illustrative material were presented to the delegates of the mining and metal large convention during the morning session at the Macdonald, Thursday.

With the assistance of lecturers W. J. Johnson showed how "Caving" means open pit solution mining at Thunder Bay.

J. D. Galloway used colored lantern slides to show the mining methods employed at the McIntyre Mine at Field, B.C.

The small main shaft at King Point is one of the latest shafts on the continent, was shown with slides by J. P. Causefield and E. Bachman.

Kurt Rahl illustrated the meeting "The Direction and Pre-mission of Barry Punham."

Dr. K. A. Clerk will be chairman of the luncheon at 12:30 sponsored by the Institute. Max W. Hall will be the guest speaker. His topic is "The Punham Freedom."

The consolidated measure were in line with the other three, all of which are now repealed.

Wide protests are given the amendment in ground in the consolidated act. More especially is given to make regulations dealing with licensing of theatres and operation of theatres and the ownership of films.

TECHNICAL PERSONNEL CHIEF SPEAKS

Resourcefulness Will Be Needed For War Production

Mining Industry Told Of Requirements For Dominion Arms Work

"As time goes on you are going to have to exercise more and more individual resourcefulness than ever before in order to be able to turn out more products with fewer men," E. M. Little, Ottawa, director of the wartime technical personnel bureau, told the members of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, in convention at the Macdonald Wednesday afternoon.

Getting Around

Mr. Little, who is also general manager of Anglo-Canadian pulp and paper mills, Quebec city, and president of the Canadian Association of Engineers, said that the work of the Dominion government with the direction of the bureau is to direct the living and retraining of all technical and scientific personnel, architects and chemists in the Dominion, in order that war production may progress with least hindrance.

Canada today has about 18,000 qualified technical engineers, the largest single number in the seven seas, put out from Cape Bay on its way to England to play its splendid part in overcoming Kaiserism, even as the young soldiers of today are going forward to eliminate Nazism.

The departure of the 1st Canadian Contingent was not only an event in that it was the commencement of the flow of Empire troops to the service of the Motherland, but also the first real step in the successful achievement of the organization and development of the Canadian Expeditionary Force. War broke out on Aug. 4 and yet by Oct. 2 a contingent of 24,300 of all ranks sailed forth for Britain.

In the summer of 1914 a mixed force of 103,000 men of all arms with 4,553 horses carried out similar maneuvers approximating the conditions at Pelawaka Camp, Ontario, in a role more before attempted in this country, that was the maximum limit of the effort of the army and yet with that as a skeleton, the 1st Contingent was built around it and placed in a position to sail at the first call. On Aug. 4, 1914 an "extra" of Canada Gazette, published at Ottawa, read "His Royal Highness the Governor General received a message from the King of the Netherlands, dated August 4, 1914, at 14.45, the following, signifying that war had broken out between the Netherlands and Germany."

"Skiing man-made ice in warm regions, let us look at some of the things that are being done in the north of Canada."

Squadron Leader Head Wounds

Are Caused By Axe And Knife

Severe blows on the head which might have been caused by an axe and kitchen knife similar to those found in the Cougar cabin were the cause of Mary Cogan's death, Dr. Harry MacKay, Fort McMurray, testified at the trial of Pierre Cogan, Chippewyan Prairie Indian, accused of murdering his wife, Elsie, testified that the wounds on the woman's head could not have been self-inflicted.

Cogan is alleged to have murdered his wife at their dinner table in the Cougar cabin on the night of September 4. The trial is being presided over by Mr. Justice Gies, with a jury of J. W. McLaughlin, C. J. Macdonald, and Charles Grant, K.C., defending.

Dr. MacKay described in detail the wounds found on the woman's head, face and shoulder. Some of the wounds were made by a sharp instrument, others by a blunt one. He told the court the wounds could have been made by an axe and knife found at the scene of the alleged crime.

He was in the London area in the early days of the blitz and summer of 1940. He was shot down by a German bomber, and he was held in a prisoner of war camp. He was released in 1941.

Man Says Pair Attacked Him

Blaise had been on charges of assault with intent to rob, following complaint of a man named St. Jean, who claimed he was attacked by two men as he walked along 97 street at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

St. Jean telephoned the police station on the Police and said he had been beaten by the fists of the two assailants, who then went through his pockets. He did not state whether or not the alleged robbers had secured any money or valuables from his person.

St. Jean then turned city street, in a red car with Captain Arl and Black and pointed out two men he said resembled those who attacked him.

The officers then arrested Lloyd J. "Doc" and St. Jean. They were charged with assault with intent to rob.

Appearing before Magistrate Miller in city police court Thursday morning, the two men were committed one day. They informed the court they desired time to secure legal counsel.

Their Majesties Spend As Much Time As Possible With Canucks Now Stationed In Britain

Their Majesties the King and Queen recently inspected a Canadian forestry corps at Balmoral Castle and afterwards His Majesty took the salute at the march past. The royal princesses were also present at the ceremony and watched the proceedings with keen interest. Wearing the uniform of the Cameron Highlanders, King George is pictured, left, as he inspected the corps. A great deal of Their Majesties' time is taken up with visits to their troops and shortly after their trip to Balmoral Castle they visited Canada's Third Division in southern England, where they watched the troops during manoeuvres. The King is pictured, right, inspecting a "casualty" during a demonstration of an advance training station.

Look Out Below!

The job of dropping bombs with deadly accuracy from dizzy heights is a highly specialized one requiring months of training. Today in R.C.A.F. schools of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan spotted throughout Canada thousands of keen-eyed young men are learning to do this job and do it well. These photographs were taken at the Bombing and Gunnery School in Jarvis, Ontario. The top picture shows a Fairley Battle bomber cruising over Lake Erie where tiny buoy targets await the eagle eye of the Bombardier below, who is ready at the bomb sight in the belly of the plane with his thumb tense on the bomb release.

Here we see the wives of workers in a big city, learning to fill machine-gun belts under the watchful eye of their instructor, right, a Red army officer. Russ cities now under virtual siege, have all reported women engaged in the defence works.

Opportunities To Tradesmen In Petrol Unit

"Wonderful opportunities" for tradesmen are offered in the 6th Canadian Divisional Petrol Company, R.C.A.S.C., which is now in the process of mobilization, according to Maj. J. H. Gainer, M.C., district recruiting officer, M.D. No. 13.

Maj. Gainer announced that Maj. G. H. C. Rogers, M.C., has been appointed officer commanding this unit and that he will be a recruiting party leaving Calgary on Monday next, Oct. 6 to recruit men for the unit, which will be included in the 6th Canadian Division, now being mobilized for active service.

This is a unit that offers wonderful opportunities for men to become involved in the war effort because it is entirely mechanized and has approximately 150 motor vehicles in its establishment," said Maj. Gainer.

Maj. Gainer said that blacksmiths, carpenters and joiners, electricians, fitters, dress mechanics, turners, technical clerks, supply clerks, internal combustion engine drivers, motorcycle and motor vehicle mechanics, and others are among the classes of mechanics required in the unit.

It is expected that Maj.
